PREFACE.

A number of years ago the writer undertook the compilation of a bibliography of North American languages, and in the course of his work visited the principal public and private libraries of the United States, Canada, and Northern Mexico; carried on an extensive correspondence with librarians, missionaries, and generally with persons interested in the subject, and examined such printed authorities as were at hand. The results of these researches were embodied in a volume of which a limited number of copies were printed and distributed—an author's catalogue which included all the material at that time in his possession.¹ Since its issue he has had an opportunity to visit the national libraries of England and France, as well as a number of private ones in both these countries, and a sufficient amount of new material has been collected to lead to the belief that a fairly complete catalogue of the works relating to each of the more important linguistic stocks of North America may be prepared. The first of such catalogues is the present; the second, which it is hoped to issue shortly, will be the Siouan.

The people speaking the Eskimo language are more widely scattered, and, with perhaps two or three exceptions, cover a wider range of territory than those of any other of the linguistic stocks of North America. From Labrador, on the east, their habitations dot the coast line to the Aleutian Islands, on the west, and a dialect of the language is spoken on the coast of Northeastern Asia. As far north as the white man has gone remains of their deserted habitations are found, and southward they extend, on the east coast to latitude 50° and on the west coast to latitude 60°. Within this area a number of dialects are spoken, the principal of which will be found entered herein in their alphabetic order.

Some difficulty has been encountered in deciding upon the claim of certain titles to admission into the bibliography. There are certain districts, notably in Alaska and Northeastern Asia, visited or inhabited by Eskimo or people closely allied to them and by other tribes not Eskimo. A vocabulary collected in such a district may be purely Eskimo, or purely not Eskimo, or a mixture containing words in different languages and dialects. The vocabularies collected by Nordenskiöld, near Bering Strait, for example, contain Sandwich Island words, imported by sailors on whaling vessels, which words have come into general use among the Indians of that region. Vocabularies collected in Cook's Inlet, Alaska, may be of either the Aleut or Kadiak dialect of the Eskimo or of tribes of radically distinct linguistic stocks.

The compiler has frequently found himself in doubt in such cases, but has, after careful consideration, concluded that he can best serve the needs of students of the Eskimo by retaining all titles about which any reasonable doubt exists. Under this ruling it is probable that a few titles will be found in the list which should properly be excluded, but it is believed that the number of such entries is small, and that the usefulness of the catalogue will be greater by retaining these few doubtful titles, some of which should properly be excluded, than by excluding more rigorously, and so omitting titles which should be retained.

The greatest deficiency will probably be found in titles relating to the Asiatic Eskimo. No special effort has been made to collect such material, and that relating to them which does appear was gathered incidentally.

No opportunity has been lost to take titles at first hand, and there will be found herein a larger percentage of books and manuscripts described de visu, it is thought, than is usual in works of this kind.

The earliest printed record of the language known to me is the Greenland vocabulary in the two editions of Olearius's Voyage of 1656. The earliest treatise on the language is found in the various editions of Hans Egede's work on Greenland, first printed in 1729; the next by Anderson in 1746. Egede's dictionary followed closely, appearing in 1750. The earliest text met with is the latter author's Four Gospels, printed at Copenhagen in 1744, though Nyerup credits him with a work printed two years earlier. To the younger Egede we are indebted for the first grammar, which appeared at Copenhagen in 1760.

The first text in the dialect of Labrador of which mention is made herein is the Harmony of the Gospels, printed at Barbime in 1800 (see Nalegapta), the translator of which I do not know. There is no printed grammar of this dialect; but mention will be found under Freitag of a manuscript grammar dated 1839 and under Bourquin of another as about to be printed. The only dictionary is that of Erdmann of 1864.

As to the extreme west, Veniaminoff and Netzvietoff translated and issued a number of texts between 1840 and 1848; also a dictionary of the Aleut, and a grammatic treatise of the Kadiak and Aleut, in 1846. The only other dictionary of any of the western dialects is that of Buynitzky, published in 1871.

The only texts of the Eskimo of the middle stretch of country are those of the Hudson Bay people by the Rev. E. J. Peck.

For a succinct statement of the order and date of publication the reader is referred to the chronologic index at the end of the bibliography.

The best collection of Eskimo texts I have met with is that of Major Powell, of Washington; the second, perhaps, that in the library of the British Museum. The best collection of Arctic literature is that in the British Museum; the second, that in the Library of Congress.

No detailed statement of the plan pursued in recording this matter is thought to be necessary, as but few departures from the ordinary rules of library cataloguing have been made. The dictionary plan has been followed to its extreme limit as the best adapted to the purpose in view. All works are entered under their author when known—translators being considered as authors—and under first word of title, not an article or a preposition, when the name of the author is not known. A cross-reference is given from the first words of every Eskimo title when such title is entered under an author's name, whether or not the work is anonymous. All titular matter, including cross-references, is in a larger, all index and explanatory matter in a smaller, type.

During the progress of type setting a number of titles have come to hand in time for insertion in their proper places, but, in some cases, too late to permit the proper entry to be made in the subject or dialect indexes; and the translation of the Eskimo titles, which was done after the matter was in galley proof, has shown that a few items have been wrongly entered in the subject indexes. I think these unavoidable minor errors and omissions should not be held to weigh against the manifest advantages of a single alphabetic arrangement.

The prices quoted are from such sources as were at command, and are arranged chronologically.

My thanks are due to Mr. John Murdoch, librarian of the Smithsonian Institution, who has kindly translated the Eskimo titles for me.

There is an edition in Russian, St. Petersburg, 1805-1810, which I have not seen; and one, Philadelphia, De Silver, 1818, 2 vols. 8°, which contains no linguistics.

The work is reprinted in Kerr (R.), General History and Collection of Voyages, vol. 15, pp. 115-514; vol. 16; and vol. 17, pp. 1-311. The linguistics appear in vol. 16, pp. 285-286.

Extracts from the work are printed in Pinkerton and Pelham, but they do not contain the linguistics.

The vocabularies are also reprinted in Fry (E.), Pantographia, London, 1799, 8°, and in Voyages of Capt. James Cook, London, 1842, vol. 2, p. 305. (*)

No title-page; heading as above; pp. 1-160, 16°. Acts of the Apostles in the Eskimo of Labrador. The British Museum catalogue (the copy described therein I have seen) gives it the date of 1819, which is probably correct, as Bagster's Bible of Every Land mentions an edition of that date.

There is sometimes issued separately, with heading as above, a portion (pp. 277-637) of the work, titled Testamentetak tamedsa, London, 1840, which is probably the "Acts, Epistles, and Revelations in Eskimo-Labrador, completed in 1839," mentioned by Bagster. The first part of Testamentetak tamedsa (pp. 1-276), containing the four gospels, was also issued separately with the title beginning Tamedsa Mattheusib.

An illustrated eight-page quarto paper, two columns to the page, printed in Eskimo at Godthaab, Greenland, in a small printing office, founded by Dr. H. J. Rink in connection with the inspector's office. First issued January, 1861, and continued at irregular intervals. Up to and including the issue of April, 1874 (No. 193), the columns were numbered consecutively to 3,081. This is followed by 24 columns index. Since that time there have been six volumes issued to April 15, 1880, each containing 192 columns, making in all 4,237 columns. This is the last I have seen. Dr. Rink informs me the publication was continued until 1885, the whole numbering 5,162 columns, with more than 250 leaves of illustrations in addition.

"Brother Konigseer, departing this life in 1786, was succeeded in his office as superintendent of the mission by Brother Jaspar Brodersen, a student of theology, who had already lived several years in the country. * * *
Being firmly persuaded that the best service he could render to his flock would be to extend their acquaintance with the inspired volume, he employed his leisure hours in translating select portions of the historical part of the Old Testament and of the prophecies of Isaiah.
Besides this he compiled a new collection of hymns for the use of the Greenlanders, and, having brought a small printing press with him from Europe, he struck off a few copies for immediate circulation till a larger impression could be printed in Germany. * * * A severe fit of illness in April, 1792, * * * caused his Crespieul (R. P. François - Xavier).

Prières | en | Algonkin | Montagnais |
Abanaki | Esquimaux | 1676 | par le Révérénd Père de Crespieul. *

Manuscript, 30 ll. 8°. Preserved in the Archbishopric of Quebec. The pagination is confused. The text commences on the verso of the leaf which bears the title, and is divided into four columns, two on the verso and two on the recto, having for headings, from left to right: Algonkin, Montagnais, Abanaki, Esquimaux. The first two columns only are in the handwriting of Father Crespieul. The text of the column devoted to the language of the Eskimos disappears on the recto of leaf 3, but appears again on pages 4 and 5, not being a translation of the same prayers as contained in the other columns, however. The Eskimo column is blank throughout the remainder of the manuscript.

Hans Egede was born Jan. 31, 1686, at Trondenes, Norway, where his father was sheriff. He was missionary in Greenland for 15 years, beginning in 1721. In 1736 he returned to Copenhagen, where for several years he instructed missionary candidates in the language of Greenland. According to Reichelt he began the translation into Eskimo of the New Testament, a work finished by his son; and according to Bagster, the elder Egede translated the Psalms and the Epistles of Paul. In 1740 he was made bishop. He died at Stub bekjoning, Denmark, in 1758.

"The language gave Mr. [Hans] Egede infinite trouble; * * * his children learned it more easily. With their assistance he proceeded so far as to begin a Greenlandic grammar and to translate some Sunday lessons out of the gospels, together with a few short questions and illustrations. * * * Egede wrote down some of these sentiments in a Greenland dialogue between Pok and his countrymen, and another between a missionary and an angekok, at the end of his Greenland grammar."—Oranz.

Paul Egede, a son of Bishop Hans Egede, was born in Norway, October 9, 1708. He went with his father to Greenland, and, having learned the language in a few years, he went to Copenhagen in 1728 to continue his studies. In 1734 he went to Greenland as an ordained missionary. He returned in 1741 and became parson at Vartov in Copenhagen. In 1761 he obtained the degree of professor of natural theology, and was made inspector of the Greenland mission. In 1779 he became bishop. He died in 1789.

Egede (Peter). [Psalms in the Green- land language.]

According to Nyerup's Dansk-Norsk Litteraturlexicon, vol. 1, p. 145, a portion of the psalms contained, in Egede (Paul), Catechismus, pp. 140-146, were translated by Peter Egede (a nephew of Hans Egede), who was born in Norway and was the first missionary ordained in Greenland. He died in 1789.

According to Erslew, Fabricius published, with amendments, in 8°, at Copenhagen, editions of the Greenland psalm-book, with appendix of prayers, and the history of Christ's passion, in 1788 [see Egede (Paul)]; and the explanation of the Greenland catechism, with addition of the order of salvation, in 1790.

Fabricius was born March 6, 1744, at Rødkjøbing, Langeland, where his father, Hans Fabricius, was minister and dean of the district of Norre. After receiving private instruction he was sent to the university in 1762; underwent his final examination in 1768, and in March of the same year was sent as ordained missionary to the colony of Frederikshaab, in Greenland, where he remained till 1773; in 1774 he became minister at Drangedal and Torredal, in the bishopric of Aggershus; in 1779, at Hodro and Skiellerup, in the same bishopric; in 1781, at Røse, on the island of Aero; in 1783 he was made parson at the orphanage in Copenhagen, and teacher of the Greenland language; in 1789, parson of Our Saviour's Church at Christianshavn; in the same year he was chosen director of the Society of Natural History of Copenhagen; in 1803 he received the title of professor of theology and the rank of professor at the University of Copenhagen; in 1813 he became a member of the Mission College as far as it related to the affairs of the Greenland mission; in 1815 he became Knight of the Dannebrog; on March 23, 1818, he celebrated the fifty years' jubilee of his office, and on the same day received the title and rank of bishop, together with the honorary diploma of doctor of theology. He died May 20, 1822.

“On passing from the folk-lore, preserved merely by verbal tradition, to the printed literature of Greenland, we must mention that a few old manuscripts have been found in the possession of the natives containing stories of European origin, which they had preserved in this way by copying them, such as ‘Pok: or a Greenlanders Journey to Denmark,’ ‘Sibylle,’ ‘Oberon,’ and ‘Holger the Dane.’ * * * The details of these stories in their Greenland versions of course frequently appear very curious.

* * * * *

“The literature of the Greenlanders, printed in the Eskimo language, amounts to about as much as might make fifty ordinary volumes. Most of it has been printed in Denmark, but, as already mentioned, a small printing-office was established at Godthaab, in Greenland, in 1862, from whence about 280 sheets have issued, besides many lithographic prints. As regards its contents the Greenlandish literature includes the following books, of which, however, many are very small, or mere pamphlets:

“The Bible, in four or five larger parts, and some smaller sections as separate parts.

“Three or four volumes, and several smaller books, containing psalms.

“About twenty books concerning religious objects.

“About ten books serving for manuals in spelling, arithmetic, geography, history, &c.

Greenland—Continued.

"About sixteen books, with stories or other contents, chiefly entertaining.

"About six grammars and dictionaries in the Eskimo language, for Europeans.

"A Journal: Atuagagdluifit, nalinginarmik tusaruminásassumik univkát, i. e., 'something for reading, accounts of all sorts of entertaining subjects,' published in Greenland since 1861. Up to 1874 it comprised 194 sheets in quarto, and about 200 leaves with illustrations.

"Official reports concerning the municipal institutions, 1862 to 1872, in Danish and Greenlandish, comprising about twenty-six sheets, besides many lithographic plates containing accounts and statistical returns."—Rink, Danish Greenland, pp. 213, 214.

According to Crauz, printing was introduced into Greenland at least prior to 1792, Brodersen, who died in that year, having brought a small printing-press from Europe, on which he struck off a few copies of a collection of hymns for immediate use.

Title 1 l. text in English descriptive of the illustrations 1 l. 24 ll. containing illustrations numbered 1-39, 2 ll. colored plates, 4°.

"These wood-cuts are the results of experiments undertaken in 1858-'60, to test the natural capabilities of the Greenlanders for this branch of art. The whole have been engraved, and with the exception of Nos. 1-8, composed and drawn without assistance, by 5 or 6 natives of Greenland, the necessary wood and instruments having been lent them. The best of these wood-cuts are the production of a Greenlander named Aron living near Godthaab, who has received no better education than the generality of his countrymen."—Extract from text.

According to Nyerup's Dansk-Norsk Literaturlexicon, Kjer translated into the Greenland a contribution to Ronne's Dansk-Religionsblad, in 1827, and Anderson's poem, "The Dying Child," in 1829.

Kjer was the son of Jacob Kjer, who was parson of Løsning and Korning, in the bishopric of Aarhus. Born October 2, 1802, at the parsonage of Løsning; went to the school of Horsens in 1814, whence he proceeded to the university; after having passed his second examination, in 1821, he became private teacher in Laaland, and in the following year returned to Copenhagen, where he was received in the Greenland Seminary as alumnus; underwent the theological official examination in 1823 and was immediately after ordained missionary for the colony of Holsteinborg in Greenland. In June, 1823, he became parson at Todse, in the bishopric of Aalborg, and in October, 1838, at Skjodstrup, in the same bishopric.

This important work was committed to Brother Kleinschmidt, who, from his long residence in the country, had obtained a very competent knowledge of the language. * * * We are happy to learn from the accounts of the last year, 1819, that the whole was finished and only waited another final revision before it should be transmitted to Europe."—Cranz.

In Morgan (L. H.), Systems of Consanguinity and Affinity, pp. 293-382, Washington, 1871, 4°.

Samuel Petrus Kleinschmidt, the son of a missionary, was born at Lichtenau, Greenland, February 27, 1814, and died at Godhaven, Greenland, February 8, 1886. In 1823 he was taken to the school of Kleinwelke, Saxony. From 1828 to 1836 he served as apothecary's apprentice in Zeist, Holland, and from 1836 to 1840 as school teacher at Christiansfeld, Slesvig. In 1840 he returned to Greenland, and was appointed in the missionary service of the Moravians, acting as teacher at the seminary from 1859. Since 1860 he has had a printing-press in his house, and has printed with his own hands several books in Greenlandish, school books in history, geography, and church history, and especially a large part of the Old Testament, but only a limited number of copies, merely intended for the use of the revisers of his new translation. Finally, he has published a new edition of the New Testament, printed at Budissin, Saxony.—Rink.

"A new impetus was given to the study of the Greenland tongue by Conrad [sic] Kleinschmidt, a man of varied talents. He introduced an improved system of orthography, which had regard to the derivations of the words and has been adopted by all the Greenland missionaries, including those of the Danish church, and discarded as a model the Latin grammar, which had been painfully followed by all his predecessors, treating the Greenland tongue according to its own peculiar idioms and the existing forms of its words. His grammar of the Greenland language appeared at Berlin in 1851 and his Greenland-Danish lexicon at Copenhagen at a later time. He wrote also several school books, among them a geography and a natural history, both of which gave him abundant opportunities to construct new words and formulate new terms for many things unknown to the Greenlanders. The most important of his undertakings was a version of the Old Testament, upon which he bestowed extraordinary care and which, by this time, must be nearly completed. On a press presented by the church at Zeist, in Holland, he printed with his own hands a small edition of this work, as far as completed, for the benefit merely of the missionaries. The use of this press was cheerfully granted him, even after he had joined the Danish mission and had been appointed director of the seminary at Godthåab.—Reichelt.

Kleinschmidt's father, also a missionary to Greenland, was named John Conrad; hence the mistake probably in the above quotation.

work, and at length, in 1809, it was sent for publication to London. Mr. Kohlmeister, who had been many years a missionary in Labrador, extracted from this manuscript an entire version of the Gospel of St. John; and in 1810 an edition of 1,000 copies of that Gospel was published in London at the expense of the British and Foreign Bible Society."—Bagster.

"Peder Kragh, the son of Michael Kragh and Kirstine Jensen, was born at Gimming, then annexed to Randers, November 20, 1794. In 1804 he entered the school at Randers, in 1806 the Latin school at the same place, and thence, in 1813, to the university. He entered the Greenland seminary in April, 1817; passed his final examination in theology in October of the same year, and in January, 1818, was sent as missionary to Egedesminde and annexed districts, in Disco Bay, in North Greenland, whither he set out in May, arriving in August, and before the end of the same month gave his first sermon in the Greenland. He remained in that office for ten years. In 1825 he established the mission of Upernivik, abandoned forty years afterward. He left Greenland in July, 1828, and arrived at Copenhagen about the end of August of the same year. In January, 1829, he became parson at Gjerlev and Ensløv, in the bishopric of Aarhus, and in October, 1838, at Lintrup and Hjerding, in the bishopric of Ribe.

"There are in circulation in Greenland by this author various translations, namely, Ingemann's Voices in the Wilderness, and The High Game, Krummacher's Parables and Feast Book, Hans Egede's Life, and some cradle songs and other songs, for the publication of which no money could be obtained."—Erslew.

Murdoch (John). Catalogue of ethnological specimens collected by the Point Barrow Expedition. Prepared by John Murdoch, A. M., Sergeant Signal Corps, U. S. Army.

In Report of the International Polar Expedition to Point Barrow, Alaska, pp. 61-87, Washington, 1885, 4°.

Gives the Eskimo names of many of the specimens.

—| Natural history. By John Murdoch, A. M., Sergeant Signal Corps, U. S. Army.

In Report of the International Polar Expedition to Point Barrow, Alaska, pp. 89-200, Washington, 1885, 4°.

Throughout sections I-III are given many Eskimo names of mammals, birds, and fishes.

— [Linguistic results of the Point Barrow Expedition.]

Manuscript in possession of its author. Mr. Murdoch, who is now librarian of the Smithsonian Institution, has compiled all the vocabularies and grammatic notes collected by the different members of the expedition—Lieut. Ray, Dr. Oldmixon, Capt. Herendeen, and himself—and has transliterated them into a uniform spelling, nearly the same as that adopted by the Bureau of Ethnology. The vocabulary forms 132 pp. folio, containing about 1,100 words, among which are represented at least 590 radicals. These radicals are arranged alphabetically, each followed by its own compounds after the pattern of Part I of Kleinschmidt's Gronlandsk Ordbog. Following each word is the corresponding word in the dialects of Greenland, Labrador, and the Mackenzie River District, taken from the standard dictionaries, for the purpose of comparison, and the corresponding English translation.

In addition to the vocabulary, there is a list of 90 "affixes" or inseparable words, corresponding to Part II of the Gronlandsk Ordbog. Mr. Murdoch is still engaged in working up the grammatic notes, which are quite scanty, and in comparing the material collected with the language of Greenland as represented in the standard authorities.

comparatively few words, from 100 upwards, while one, the Unalit, is represented by about 2,500, in addition to numerous phrases and sentences. With the exception of the Unalit, the words of all the other dialects are preceded by a distinguishing initial letter.

Mr. Nelson is arranging the Eskimo-English portion of his work, and also his notes upon the grammar and remarks upon the geographic distribution of the dialects. These, he thinks, will occupy about 500 pages of manuscript.

"The author, who hath here made one digression, to speak of the Samojedes, * * * thinks he may make another to say somewhat of Greenland, * * * as for that he hath seen, and discoursed with, some inhabitants of Greenland. * * * In the spring of 1654 a ship was set out, which going from Copenhagen in the beginning of the spring, arriv'd not on the coasts of Greenland, till the 23 of July. * * * As soon as this ship appear'd upon the coasts of Greenland, the inhabitants set out above a hundred boats. * * * The Danes thought this freedom of the Greenlanders a good opportunity to carry away some of them. * * * They also sent back one of the women, as being too old to be transported; so that they had but four persons, one man, two women, and a girl. * * * The plague, then very rife all over Denmark, had oblig'd the king to retire to Flensbourg, in the Dutchy of Holstein, where these Greenlanders were presented to him. * * * The king honour'd the duke, my master, so far as to send them to him to Gottorp, where they were lodg'd in my house for some days, which I spent in sitting out their humour and manner of life."—Olearius.

Colophon: F. Arnold, Printer, 86, Fleet Street, E. C. [n. d.]

Five unnumbered ll. 16°, syllabic characters. Half-titles as above, on the verso of which begins the text in syllabic characters, with heading in English, Gothic characters: "Watts's First Catechism in Esquimaux." This extends to bottom of recto of 3d l. the verso containing the Creed and the Commandments, the latter ending on verso of 4th l. which also contains the Lord's Prayer, baptismal sentence, marriage sentences, the latter ending on recto of 5th l. which also contains a prayer. Verso of 5th l. a hymn, the benediction.

This is the best example of printing in the syllabic characters I have seen. I am inclined to think it is from engraved plates.

— [Brief catalogue of books in the Eskimo language of Greenland.]

Manuscript slips furnished me by Dr. Rink; in its preparation he had the assistance of "a Greenland missionary."

Heinrik Johannes Rink was born in Copenhagen, August 26, 1819. He studied in his native town from 1840 to 1844, and then for a year or two in Germany. In June, 1845, he left Copenhagen for a circumnavigation, as geologist of an expedition, but remained in India as assistant to the governor of the Danish colony on the Nicobar Islands. Considerations of health obliged him to leave India, and after a stay in Egypt and Naples he returned to Copenhagen in December, 1846. In 1848 he went to Greenland, where he spent twenty-two summers and sixteen winters. From 1853 to 1868 he served as inspector of Southern Greenland, and in 1871 was appointed director of the trade. His last visit to Greenland was made in 1872. In 1883 he settled down in Norway, and at present (1887) is spending a retired life at Christiania, Norway.

Copies seen: Brinton.

“Dr. Heinrich Winkler, in his recently published ‘Uralaltaische Völker und Sprachen,’ has made a careful comparison of the Eskimo with the languages of northern and northeastern Asia. He reaches the result that it is in unmistakably close relation to the Kadyak, Tschigit, and Namollo of the Asiatic coast, but is in no way connected with the Ural-altaic tongues. It may have originally proceeded from the same elementary conception of speech; but it has developed a type of its own, differing widely from Asiatic standards, and much more closely approaching the structure typical of the great mass of American tongues, though in many respects presenting features peculiar to itself.”—Brinton.

Wolf was born at Copenhagen August 6, 1779. He received instruction from his father, and in 1791 entered the Vordenborg Latin school, and in 1796 entered the university, passing his final examination in January, 1803. In December, 1803, he was sent as missionary to Greenland, first to the colony of Holsteinborg and Sukkertoppen, and in the fall of 1807 to Godthaab. He remained in Greenland until 1811. He died in Copenhagen October 16, 1848.
